The "war brides," about which so much has been written since the beginning of the struggle in Europe, have among their number a young Topeka woman, Miss Edith N. Wheeler, who was married Friday evening to Lionel N. Dawson, M. D., C. M., of Ottawa, Ontario, Canada.

Miss Wheeler, formerly of Lawrence, came to Topeka a few years ago and took the nurse's training in Christ's hospital, where she graduated. Afterward she went to Canada to take post-graduate work in a Victoria hospital school. She was struck with fever in Ottawa, and was taken to the department of the hospital for fever patients. Dr. Dawson was the resident physician in the hospital, and it was during her stay there that she met him. Before her return to Topeka, Miss Wheeler was betrothed to the young doctor.

After England declared war, Dr. Dawson volunteered for service, and was commissioned lieutenant in the Royal Army corps. He will sail Monday for England, on the transport ship leaving Canada that day. His bride will sail on a passenger boat two weeks later. They will go direct to England, where they will remain about two months. After that Dr. Dawson expects to be ordered to the front for his duty. It is expected that his bride will go also and offer her service as nurse.

Mrs. Dawson, during a part of her residence in Topeka, lived at the W. P. Bishop home, 1600 College avenue. She is an attractive young woman, an excellent nurse, and was greatly liked by her friends in Topeka, who are deeply interested in her future and especially concerned about her voyage across to England, since the news of the sinking of the Lusitania arrived.

The College Alumnae will have a guest day meeting and informal reception Saturday, May 15, at the Y. W. C. A. The affair will be a joint session of the club for the season. Each member is entitled to invite three guests.

The social service committee of the club will have charge of the program. Miss Linna Bessette, deputy factory inspector, will make an address about her work, which is chiefly concerned with the conditions under which the working women of the state are employed. Miss Lulu McKee will speak about the Mentality Tests that have been conducted in Topeka during the past winter. These tests are of great interest to those who have been watching them.

The program will begin at 3 o'clock, and will be followed by an informal reception.

The number of young women who enter the ranks of the world's workers is yearly increasing, and they are going from the fashionable circles, prepared by thorough education for the ranks of the learned professions. A Topeka girl of the exclusive social set, Miss Edna Hopkins, is planning to take up the study of law. She has resigned her position as teacher of English in the Topeka high school, and will soon enter law college. She was formerly a student in K. U., where she was a sorority girl, and she completed her education in the east, at Simmons and Bryn Mawr.
